

Thirdly, make contribution to directly improving the quality of Vietnamese laborers.

Fourthly, expand and diversify the labor markets for Vietnamese laborers to choose.

Fifthly, Vietnam has been able to establish quite a sufficient and suitable legal document system in accordance with the international common practices and the reality in Vietnam.

In short, from the obtained results and efficiencies mentioned above, it can be assert that the guideline for sending Vietnamese laborers to work oversea is a very sound guideline of the Party and State of Vietnam in accordance with the trend of the age and the context of Vietnam and is positively assessed by the society.

In Vietnam, at present, there is hardly immigrated workers while there are only Vietnamese laborers working in other countries as mentioned above./.